

Filter by language

You can filter the displayed publications by language

Year of Publication: 2018

Attwood, Margaret, Am I a bad feminist? [1], The Globe And Mail, 2018

Margaret Attwood's argument that the #MeToo movement should not turn into 'vigilante justice' – i.e. condemnation without a trial. She voiced her opinion following the firing of an employee, Prof. Steven Galloway, from the University of British Columbia in Canada. Serious allegations were cited without further comments on their nature. The accusations were presumably related to allegations of sexual assaults, but the hearing found no evidence and Galloway was fired after signing a non-disclosure agreement. Attwood's view met with a backlash of accusations that she used her power to silence less powerful victims.

For a follow-up by The Guardian, please visit: <https://www.theguardian.com/books/2018/jan/15/margaret-atwood-feminist-backlash-metoo> [2]

Source URL (retrieved on 02/05/2024 - 18:18):<https://civilresistance.info/author/2405>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2018/am-i-bad-feminist> [2]

<https://www.theguardian.com/books/2018/jan/15/margaret-atwood-feminist-backlash-metoo>