

The Quiet Battle: Writings on the Theory and Practice of Nonviolent Resistance

Editor: Mulford Q. Sibley [1]

Doubleday, Garden City NJ, 1963, pp. 390

Still useful compilation. Part I 'Foundations' includes extracts from 'ancient religious statements', Boetie, Godwin and Shelley, Gandhi, Case and Gregg; Part II covers unarmed resistance in classical Roman times, the general strike, Hungary 1849-67, resistance in Norway during the German Occupation and the 1953 Vorkuta (prison camp) strike in the Soviet Union; Part III provides extracts on principled nonviolent power, including colonial Pennsylvania, South African resistance in the 1950s, the US Civil Rights movements, direct action against war preparations and the possibilities of nonviolent national defence.

Source URL (modified on 23/08/2016 - 15:57): <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/1963/quiet-battle-writings-theory-and-practice-nonviolent-resistance>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/34>