

Disarming Patriarchy: Feminism and Political Action at Greenham

Author: Sasha Roseneil [1]

Open University Press, Buckingham, 1995, pp. 225

This PhD thesis is a detailed account of the history and everyday life at Greenham, based on participation in the peace camp and interviews with other women. See also Roseneil, Sasha , Common Women, Uncommon Practices: The Queer Feminism of Greenham [2] London, Cassell, , 2000, pp. 352 , which explores life-style and lesbian issues connected with the camp.

Source URL (modified on 09/12/2016 -

12:16):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/1995/disarming-patriarchy-feminism-and-political-action-greenham>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/1954> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2000/common-women-uncommon-practices-queer-feminism-greenham>