

Women in South African History

Editor: Nomboniso Gasa [1]

Human Sciences Research Council, Cape Town, 2007, pp. 456

Part Three – ‘War: armed and mass struggles as gendered experiences’ – includes Jacklyn Cock, “‘Another mother for peace’: Women and peace building in South Africa, 1983-2003, pp. 257-280, and Janet Cherry “‘We were not afraid’: The role of women in the 1980s’ township uprising in the Eastern Cape’, pp. 281-313, and Pat Gibbs, ‘Women, labour and resistance: Case studies from the Port Elizabeth/Uitenhage area, 1972-94’, pp. 315-343.

Source URL (modified on 23/08/2016 - 15:57):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2007/women-south-african-history>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/598>