

---

Is the European Union Supporting Democracy in its Neighbourhood?

Author(s): Richard Youngs [1], Jos Boonstra [2], Julia Choucair Vizoso [3], Ana Echagüe [4], Balázs Jarábik [5], Kristina Kausch [6]

FRIDE, Madrid, 2008, pp. 150

EU 'neighbourhood plans' agreed with neighbouring states link economic cooperation with human rights and democratization. This report includes case studies of how this has been implemented - or not - in Morocco, Jordan, Lebanon, Ukraine, Belarus and Azerbaijan. FRIDE [7] has published a range of reports and policy briefs - all available online - with critical analyses of 'democracy promotion', especially by the European Union and its members, including in the context of the 'Arab Spring'.

Available online at:

<http://fride.org/publication/540/is-the-european-union-supporting-democracy-in-its-neighbourhood> [8]

---

Source URL (modified on 23/08/2016 -

15:57):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2008/european-union-supporting-democracy-its-neighbourhood>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/1145> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/author/1146> [3]

<https://civilresistance.info/author/1147> [4] <https://civilresistance.info/author/1148> [5]

<https://civilresistance.info/author/1149> [6] <https://civilresistance.info/author/1150> [7] <http://fride.org/publications> [8]

<http://fride.org/publication/540/is-the-european-union-supporting-democracy-in-its-neighbourhood>