

In Bangkok: Remembering the Tak Bai Massacre

Author: Tyrell Haberkorn [1]

In: OpenDemocracy, 2009

Haberkorn recalls a massacre of peaceful protesters in the Muslim-majority south in October 2004 after a declaration of martial law. He argues the failure of the state and courts to hold any official accountable for 78 deaths demonstrates the country's 'deepening crisis' in which the International Crisis Group reported (22 June 2009) over, 3,400 people had died.

Available online at:

<https://www.opendemocracy.net/en/in-bangkok-remembering-tak-bai-massacre/> [2]

Source URL (modified on 14/09/2021 - 17:50): <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2009/bangkok-remembering-tak-bai-massacre>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3509>

[2] <https://www.opendemocracy.net/en/in-bangkok-remembering-tak-bai-massacre/>