

The Fire Next Time

Author: Robert Stephens [1]

In: Red Pepper, 2014, pp. 29-31

Originally published: Oct/Nov 2014

Uses interviews with Black organisers to discuss disagreements about the best strategy to build on the mobilization resulting from the 2014 Ferguson 'rebellion' triggered by the shooting of Mike Brown. Notes in particular conflict between those working through the electoral process and seeking reform, and those focusing on resistance to the white power structure.

Source URL (modified on 25/08/2018 - 17:41): <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2014/fire-next-time>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2301>