

A Fragmented Landscape: Abortion Governance and Protest Logics in Europe

Editor(s): Silvia De Zordo [1], Joanna Mishtal [2], Lorena Anton [3]

Berghahn, New York and Oxford, 2016, pp. 304

Since 1945 European states have achieved increasing levels of economic integration, but their social policy have varied. This is particularly true for contentious issues such as abortion, where different political and religious institutions and social movements have produced very different policies. This book provides an interdisciplinary survey of the struggles over abortion rights. Drawing on national case studies from across the continent, it analyses the strategies and discourses of groups seeking to liberalise or restrict reproductive rights, from the immediate postwar era to the austerity politics, resurgent nationalism, and mass migration of today.

Source URL (modified on 06/05/2020 - 17:07):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2016/fragmented-landscape-abortion-governance-and-protest-logics-europe>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2693> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2694> [3] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2695>