

---

Beyond #MeToo and #IWill: Changing Workplace Culture

Video, The University of British Columbia

Author(s): Sara-Jane Finley [1], Ryan Avola [2], Fiona MacFarlane [3], Fiona MacFarlane [3], Jennifer Berdahl [4]

2017

Webcast sponsored by the Iving K. Barber Learning Centre and hosted by alumni UBC with Equity and Inclusion. #MeToo. #IWill. Awareness is important, but how do we move beyond hashtags and words to making real change for women in the workplace? New accusations of harassment keep coming to the fore – from Hollywood to Wall Street to Commercial Drive. In response, thousands of women have posted “#MeToo” on social media. Men have since responded with #IWill, signaling their individual commitment to take action in order to prevent harassment in their midst. But what next? How do we go beyond awareness to actual – and more permanent – change? This video includes a panel discussion that examines this issue and explore options for moving forward.

---

Source URL (modified on 16/04/2020 -

18:17):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2017/beyond-metoo-and-iwill-changing-workplace-culture>

Links

[\[1\] https://civilresistance.info/author/2634](https://civilresistance.info/author/2634) [\[2\] https://civilresistance.info/author/2635](https://civilresistance.info/author/2635) [\[3\]](https://civilresistance.info/author/2636)

<https://civilresistance.info/author/2636> [\[4\] https://civilresistance.info/author/2637](https://civilresistance.info/author/2637)