

A Hundred Years of Feminism in Indonesia

Author(s): Arivia Gadis [1], Nur Iman Subono [2]

Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung, Jakarta, 2017, pp. 27

Examines the long history of feminism in Indonesia, and how it has contributed to the discourse of equality. This study shows that Third World feminism stems from its own ideals and cultures, while being frequently accused of acting as a proponent of western ideology or adopted from Western cultures.

See also <https://www.rappler.com/world/regions/asia-pacific/indonesia/bahasa/englishedition/171774-indonesian-muslim-women-feminism> [3]

Source URL (modified on 18/05/2020 -

14:59):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2017/hundred-years-feminism-indonesia>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2879> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2880> [3] <https://www.rappler.com/world/regions/asia-pacific/indonesia/bahasa/englishedition/171774-indonesian-muslim-women-feminism>