

Native Americans and Supporters Fight Keystone XL Pipeline with Spirit Camp

Author: Katie Brandt [1]

In: Huff Post, 2017

Originally published: 2015

Account of resistance to the TransCanada Corporation's Keystone XL oil pipeline to protect ancestral lands and the environment against oil spillage. President Obama halted the project in 2015, but President Trump gave TransCanada the go-ahead in March 2017. In response two Native American communities launched a lawsuit against the Administration in 2018.

See: 'Native American Tribes File Lawsuit Seeking to Invalidate Keystone XL Pipeline Permit', npr, 10 Sept. 2018.

<https://www.npr.org/2018/09/10/646523140/native-american-tribes-file-lawsuit-seeking-to-invalidate-keystone-xl-pipeline-p?t=1595266018021> [2]

Source URL (modified on 20/07/2020 - 18:29):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2017/native-americans-and-supporters-fight-keystone-xl-pipeline-spirit-camp>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3209> [2] <https://www.npr.org/2018/09/10/646523140/native-american-tribes-file-lawsuit-seeking-to-invalidate-keystone-xl-pipeline-p?t=1595266018021>