

Feminism and the womens' movement in the Philippines

Author(s): Veronica Mylene [1], Meggan Evangelista [2]

Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung, Pasig City, 2018, pp. 27

Explores the struggles of women during different historical events and political regimes in the Philippines, including during the Spanish colonization, Marcos dictatorship, and the current challenges under the administration of President Duterte. The study hopes to enhance conversations and possibilities for collaboration among new generation of feminists and experienced women activists at the national and global fronts.

See also: Gabriel, Arneil G. (2017) "Indigenous women and the law: The consciousness of marginalized women in the Philippines", Asian Journal of Women's Studies, Vol. 23, no. 2, pp. 250-263 and <https://www.cbsnews.com/news/international-womens-day-march-8-protests-amplify-feminism-in-asia/> [3]

Source URL (modified on 18/05/2020 -

19:28):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2018/feminism-and-womens-movement-philippines>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2923> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2924> [3]

<https://www.cbsnews.com/news/international-womens-day-march-8-protests-amplify-feminism-in-asia/>