

Nukewatch – a Scottish Perspective

Author: Jane Tallents [1]

In: Peace News, No 2620-2621, 2018, pp. 11ff

Nukewatch focuses on monitoring road convoys carrying nuclear warheads from the Aldermaston Weapons Research Establishment near Reading to missile bases. The campaign began in the 1980s, and in the 1980s and 1990s Nukewatch also tried to publicize the convoys to the local population by protests along the route. From the 2000s stricter Ministry of Defence controls to ensure secrecy and speed, and Nukewatch's own concerns about possible acts of terrorism against convoys, led them to limit the information they put on the web. However, given the growth of social media and publicity about convoys on it, they joined in from 2015, whilst still using information with discretion.

See also article by Jane Tallents 'Warhead Accidents on our Roads – Who's Responsible?', p.10. of the same issue of Peace News.

Source URL (modified on 21/07/2020 - 13:30):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2018/nukewatch-scottish-perspective>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3227>