

When They Call You a Terrorist: A Black Lives Matter Memoir

Author(s): Patrisse Khan-Cullors [1], Asha Bandele [2]

St. Martin Press, New York, NY, 2018, pp. 257

When They Call You A Terrorist is the story of Patrisse Khan-Cullors, one of the co-founders of the Black Lives Matter movement. It collects her reflections on humanity, on her life and activism since early age, her brother's first-hand experience with police brutality, and on the founding of a movement for racial justice and its development during the Trump era.
