

Institutional Responses to #MeToo: A Conversation

Author(s): Weyni Mengesha [1], Melanie Dreyer-Lude [2], Kristian Clarke [3], Kathryn Shaw [4], Jacqueline Warwick [5], Alisa Palmer [6], Frédéric Dubois [7]

In: Canadian Theatre Review, Vol 180, 2019

Theatre administrators, artistic directors, and heads of programmes from across Canada discuss about how institutional policies and cultures have shifted in the wake of #MeToo. The participants reflect on the challenges of assessing the impacts and effects of a cultural movement that is still unfolding and how #MeToo has changed the relationship between training institutions and the performing arts industry.

Source URL (modified on 16/04/2020 - 18:26):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2019/institutional-responses-metoo-conversation>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2639> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2640> [3] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2641> [4] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2642> [5] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2643> [6] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2644> [7] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2645>