

Performing This is For You, Anna as #MeToo: Sexual Harassment and Performance-Based Activism on a University Campus

Author: Kailin Wright [1]

In: Canadian Theatre Review, Vol 180, 2019, pp. 27-35

In 2017, two students at St. Francis Xavier University were arrested on charges of sexual violence. In support of student survivors, Theatre Antigonish staged the feminist collective piece 'This is For You, Anna' in 2018. This article focuses on how the on-campus production and audience responded to acts of gender-based violence. In examining the St. Francis Xavier University production and creation process, this article asks, what can theatre do for student survivors? How can theatre enact change on campus?

Source URL (modified on 16/04/2020 - 19:25):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2019/performing-you-anna-metoo-sexual-harassment-and-performance-based-activism>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/2659>