Author(s): Jodi Kantor [1], Meg Twohey [2]

Bloomsbury Circus, London, 2019, pp. 336

Widely reviewed and recommended account by the two journalists who wrote the New York Times article that exposed and documented Harvey Weinstein's systematic abuse of women actors and employees over decades. The book reveals the unfolding story they uncovered, exposes in detail the mechanisms of power that silenced many women, and reveals those who resisted these pressures. The second part of the book covers the Senate hearings for Trump's Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh and Blasey Ford's accusation against him.
