

Indigenous deaths in custody: Why Australians are seizing on US protests

In: BBC, 2020

Explores the rise of Black Lives Matter protests in Australia in solidarity with the international response to the death of George Floyd, and also to highlight the long running tragedy of Aboriginal deaths in custody.

See also: Allam, Lorena and Nick Evershed, 'The killing times: the massacres of Aboriginal people Australia must confront', The Guardian, 3 March 2019.

<https://www.theguardian.com/australia-news/2019/mar/04/the-killing-times-the-massacres-of-aboriginal-people-australia-must-confront> [1]

Special report on the killing, incarceration and forced removal from their land of Indigenous Australians over 140 years. The article offers an interactive map that shows the locations and date of massacres between 1794 and 1928.

See also: Dovey, Ceridwen, 'The mapping of massacres' The New Yorker, 7 December 2017.

<https://www.newyorker.com/culture/culture-desk/mapping-massacres> [2]

The article reports on how historians and artists turned to cartography to record the widespread killing of Indigenous people in Australia.

Available online at:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/world-australia-52900929> [3]

Source URL (modified on 30/07/2020 - 21:30): <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2020/indigenous-deaths-custody-why-australians-are-seizing-us-protests>

Links

[1] <https://www.theguardian.com/australia-news/2019/mar/04/the-killing-times-the-massacres-of-aboriginal-people-australia-must-confront>

[2] <https://www.newyorker.com/culture/culture-desk/mapping-massacres>

[3] <https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/world-australia-52900929>