

Thailand's 'Bad Students' are Rising Up for Democracy and Change

Author: Sunai Phasuk [1]

In: Human Rights Watch, 2020

Report on student-led pro-democracy protests in Bangkok and at least 20 other provinces, calling for new elections, a new Constitution and reduction in the dominant role of the Thai monarchy.

See also: '#WhatsHappeningInThailand: 10 things you need to know', Amnesty International, 6 November 2020.

<https://amnesty.org/en/latest/news/2020/11/whats-happening-thailand-10-t...> [2]

See also: Selway, Joel, 'Thailand's National Moment: Protests in a Continuing Battle Over Nationalism, Brookings, 2 November, 2020.

<https://www.brookings.edu/nlog/order-from-chaos/2020/11/02/thailands-nat...> [3]

Available online at:

<https://www.hrw.org/news/2020/09/17/thailands-bad-students-are-rising-democracy-and-change> [4]

Source URL (modified on 13/12/2021 -

18:44):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2020/thailands-bad-students-are-rising-democracy-and-change>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3512> [2] <https://amnesty.org/en/latest/news/2020/11/whats-happening-thailand-10-things> [3] <https://www.brookings.edu/nlog/order-from-chaos/2020/11/02/thailands-national-moment-protests-in-a-continuing-battle-over-nationalism/> [4] <https://www.hrw.org/news/2020/09/17/thailands-bad-students-are-rising-democracy-and-change>