

---

Reminiscence on #EndSARS protests of 2020 in Nigeria

Author(s): Florence Orabueze [1], Victor O. Ukaogo [2], Ifeyinwa David-Ojukwu [3], Godstime Irene Eze [4], Chiamaka I. Orabueze [5]

In: Rupkatha Journal on Interdisciplinary Studies in Humanities, Vol 13, No 1, 2021, pp. 1-15

This study of the #EndSARS protests that shook Nigeria in October and November 2020 considers how far they can be related to more violent acts of insurgency such as Boko Haram. The study adopts a historical framework and draws on qualitative and quantitative research methods to explore how endemic governmental corruption and 'the re-enslavement and recolonization' of citizens' by political leaders has led to youth rebellion. The authors conclude that protest and violent forms of revolt will not cease until the deep-seated causes are tackled.

See also: Oloyede, F. and A.A. Elegu, (2019) 'Exploring Hashtag Activism in Nigeria. A Case of #EndSARS Campaign'. Conference Proceedings: 5th in Communication and Media Studies (CRPC 2018) Famagusta. Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus, pp. 1-7.

---

Source URL (modified on 12/10/2021 -

18:25):<https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2021/remembrance-endsars-protests-2020-nigeria>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3538> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3539> [3] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3540> [4] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3541> [5] <https://civilresistance.info/author/3542>