

Language

, Meet 15 Women Leading the Fight Against Climate Change [1], Time, 2019

This article notes the disproportionate impact on women of climate change in many parts of the world and the recognition of this fact in the UN Paris Agreement, which called for empowerment of women in climate talks. It also points to the prominence of women in the struggle to limit climate change, and selects 15 women from round the world playing varied roles, including Greta Thunberg.

, Educating Girls: The Path to Gender Equality [2], Washington, D.C., Global Partnership for Education, 2019, pp. 11

Outlines the challenges faced by girls seeking an education, and provides data related to most of the African countries, alongside Afghanistan, Yemen, the Marshall Islands, Papua New Guinea and Timor-Leste.

Barron, Dan, A Challenge to Trident [3], Red Pepper, 2015, pp. 30-31

This brief, but informative, article focuses on the campaign by the Marshall Islands to arraign the UK before the International Court of Justice for failure to fulfill its legal and moral obligations under Article VI of the Non-Proliferation Treaty: to negotiate for nuclear disarmament. Barron notes that the 70,000 inhabitants of the Marshall Islands suffered the effects of 67 US nuclear weapons tests from 1946-58, and as a UN Trust Territory only achieved independence from the US in 1990.

Clark, Roger ; Sann, Madeleine, The Case Against The Bomb [4], Camden, NJ, Rutgers University School of Law, 1996, pp. 354

Elaborates on the case the Marshall Islands, Samoa, and the Solomon Islands jointly brought before the International Court of Justice in Advisory Proceedings on the legality of the threat or use of nuclear weapons, as part of the process leading to the 1996 ICJ Advisory Opinion on the legality of the threat or use of nuclear weapons.

Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, Pacific Women Speak-Out for Independence and Denuclearisation [5], Christchurch, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, 1998, pp. 80

Indigenous women from Australia, Aotearoa (New Zealand), Belau, Bougainville, East Timor, Ka Pa'aina (Hawaii), the Marshall Islands, Te Ao Maohi (French Polynesia) and West Papua (Irian Jaya) condemn imperialism, war, 'nuclear imperialism' (in the form of nuclear tests) and military bases in the hope 'that when people around the world learn what is happening in the Pacific they will be inspired to stand beside them and to act'. The book is a contribution to the Hague Appeal for Peace [6], 1999.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/05/2024 -

13:08):<https://civilresistance.info/bibliography/country/Marshall%20Islands>

Links

[1] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2019/meet-15-women-leading-fight-against-climate-change> [2] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2019/educating-girls-path-gender-equality> [3] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/2015/challenge-trident> [4] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/1996/case-against-bomb> [5] <https://civilresistance.info/biblio-item/1998/pacific-women-speak-out-independence-and-denuclearisation> [6]

Marshall Islands

Published on CivilResistance.info (<https://civilresistance.info>)

<http://www.haguepeace.org/>