Ahmed-Ali, Fatuma, Women's agency and violence against women: the case of the Coalition on Violence Against Women in Kenya [1], African Conflict and Peacebuilding Review, Vol. 7, issue 1, 2017, pp. 51-65

This case study of COVAW is used to provide in-depth analysis of how this women's organization represents women's agency in addressing violence against women and girls in Kenyan society. It also illustrates that women do have the capacity and ability to combat violence in their society.

Samanga, Rufaro, Kenyan students launch #CampusMeToo movement on University of Nairobi Campus [2], OkayAfrica, 19/11/2019,

Brief account of the emergence of #CampusMeToo movement in 2019, which aims to tackle the sexual harassment of students on Kenyan university campuses. The movement arose after ActionAid and UN Women teamed up and conducted a survey which reportedly found that 1 in 2 female students and 1 in 4 male students have been sexually harassed to some degree by staff at Kenyan universities.
