

Majken Soerensen

Born in Denmark, currently living in Norway. From the late 1990's I have been a member of the council of the Danish pacifist and anti-militarist organisation Aldrig Mere Krig and representing this organisation at War Resisters' International. 2004 I became a member of War Resisters' International's executive committee where I have been doing organisational work. www.wri-irg.org. 2005-2006 I was a student on the MA programme in peace and reconciliation studies at Coventry University. Main interests are: Humour as nonviolent resistance to oppression; social movement theory with an emphasis on culture, meaning and emotions; the orange revolution in Ukraine, the Serbian Otpor movement and the role of external support for social movements.

Publications:

Sørensen, Majken Jul "Humour as Nonviolent Resistance to Oppression", Master of Arts dissertation, Coventry University, 2006

in Danish: Sørensen, Majken "Ukraines orange revolution efterår 2004" [Ukraine's Orange Revolution Autumn 2004] in Sosiologisk Årbok no. 2, 2005 Oslo:Novus forlag, 2005